We have the right to capture and cage animals if.....

We protect the animals and keep them healthy feed them the right amount and give them enough exercise.If they are hurt the vet will take care of them.Certain animals are Endangered so we have to keep their kind running. If we capture them we must protect them ,take care of their young,if they have .

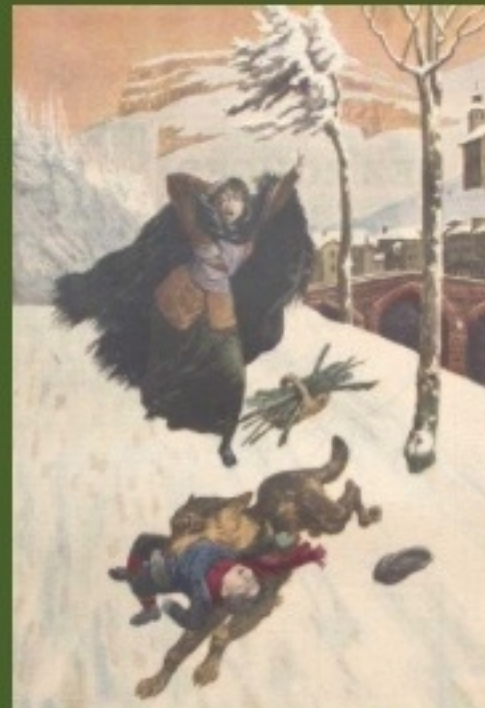

We will make the animals and humans safe from each other.

People Protection

We have the right to capture and cage animals If we keep people safe from the animals...

By Building stronger and taller enclosers to keep us safe wild animals.

(This is a boy being attacked by a wolf.)

Similar Habitats

We believe it is okay to capture and cage
animals If they live in a habitat that is like their own home.

I think that if you want to capture and cage animals, you should put them with other animals because if you don't put them with other animals, the animals can get really bored and lonely.

All gorillas should be with other animals.

This is what boredom feels and looks like:

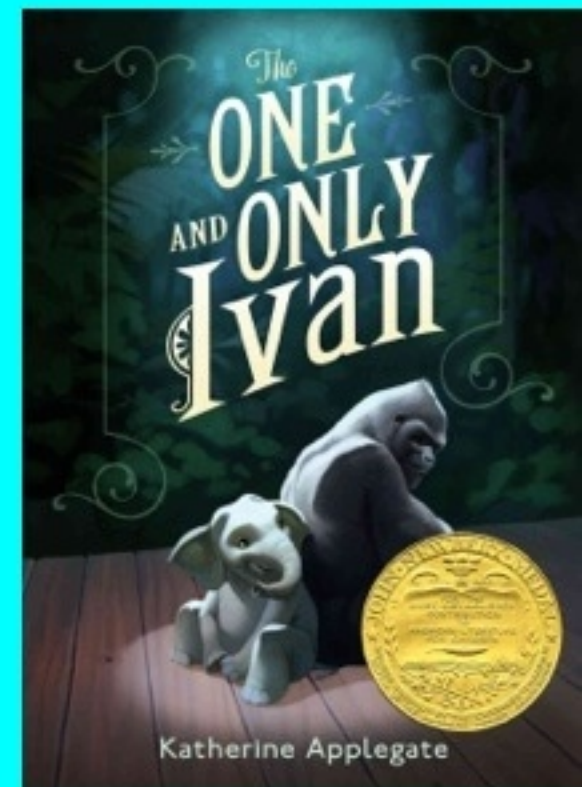

Why do you want to want to capture these animals? The only reason you should be capturing animals is because either the animal is hurt, or because you want more money but you still shouldn't capture them because Zoos already have animals so you should just think of something else to do.

Why don't you publish another novel about Ivan but instead, it is a happy life of him?

Why don't you think of something else like selling tickets to the movie theater, or something like being a doctor? Or you could just be a vet, help gorillas.

They have a habitat like their home they would have the right to capture and cage animals.

Food and health care

We believe that you can capture and cage animals if they are provided proper food and health care. If the sick and injured animals are treated properly with vets. And if they are given a good amount of exercise. If each animal is given a healthy amount of food.

If the animals are given a healthy and balanced diet of food each day. If the animals are given all the food that they normally eat in the wild. If they are given none of these things, then we believe that humans have no rights to capture and cage animals at all.

*We believe that we have the right to capture and cage animals if...
